

Mission Statement

VNG Gasspeicher GmbH, located in Leipzig, Germany, is the country's third largest storage facility operator. Our customers are European gas traders and energy companies for whom we are an innovative and flexible business partner. Our goal is to place our company as one of the leading companies within the European market.

The following mission statement represents the key points of our success-oriented activities:

Cooperation with our customers is formed by trust and stability. We offer individual products and are working closely together with our partners to find tailor-made solutions for their needs.

Our many years of experience in developing and operating storage facilities as well as our outstanding professional expertise allow us to guarantee reliable and safe management of technical facilities. This forms the basis for customer-oriented product development and leads to the successful marketing of our storage capacities. Built upon this foundation we work profit oriented and economically.

We are all working together for the success of our company using expertise and know how. Thereby the development of our employees plays an essential role for us. We maintain fair and open dealings with one another.

The use of state of the art technologies and close cooperation with scientific institutions helps us to implement an environmentally friendly strategy and efficient use of available resources. We take responsibility for our community and the environment – especially in the regions in which we are active. In all of our actions we pay attention to implement a high degree of transparency and sustainability as we are aware that this forms the basis for acceptance and trust in the public sphere.

To accomplish our goals we create a work environment in which the compliance of legislation and policies as well as the fulfillment of requirements for safety and health protection are an integral part of all our business activities.

The VNG Gasspeicher GmbH, based in Leipzig is a company in the VNG Group. Our common goal is to develop new and competitive products and services which are of use to our customers and clients along the entire natural gas value chain. The VNG Group aims to be the preferred and leading partner for all questions concerning our core product – natural gas; a product with all of the characteristics and qualities necessary to play an important role in the future of sustainable energy supply.

As at 2014

VNNGROUP

